

I AM THE WOMAN AT THE WELL

Music and Lyrics by John R. Rudisill & Leslie E. Bruggeman

Verse 1

I came for water at the well,
with empty bucket, a torn dress.
A tall man joined me at the well.
to talk with me awhile.
As we were sitting by the well,
He asked me, "May I have a drink?"
How it is you a Jew ask me
a Samaritan for drink?

Verse 2

He said, "Where is your husband?"
I told Him that I have no one.
He said that many men have come and gone in and out your life.
He told me drink the living water,
and you will ever be refreshed.
For through this living water
your thirst will be addressed.

Verse 3

Where do I get this living water?
You have no bucket to draw with
and everyone who drinks this water will thirst once more again.
He looked within my hard heart
His gentle voice reached out to me.
"I bring the living water
so you won't thirst again."

Verse 4

I'm a Samaritan woman
Why do you even talk to me?
You are a foreigner you see.
How can you care for me?
I bring new life to you.
I'm here to help to see you through.
You are no stranger to me.
I see your life, your sins.

Chorus

He said that I am He
Who comes to set you free
With living water
you'll never thirst again.
If you believe in Me.
I'll come to set you free
with living water
you'll never thirst again.
The water sent from glorious heaven.
(last chorus)
The water sent from glorious heaven.
I am the woman at the well.

© John R. Rudisill and Leslie E. Bruggeman, October, 2018.